

The winner of the third annual short story contest was Diane Fulham with her short story, "The Man of the Afternoon." Her winning story is printed in this edition.

The second place story was "And Diamonds They Were..." by Eloy Orozco. There was a three-way tie for third place with David Goshen's "The Rise and Fall of a Dictator," Paul Weisemann's "Dream Come True, The Hard Way," and "The Leaf" by Jim Lumley.

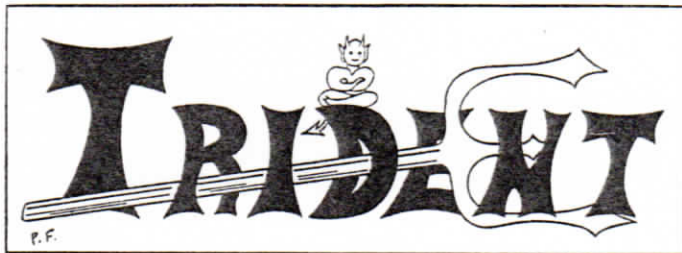

Janene Oswalt received honorable mention for her story, "The Third Way of Escaping."

The winners received prizes given by Student Council at Recognition Day, held May 14.

The judges for the contest were Mrs. Spaulding, Miss Foxworth, and Skip Conover.

SPEECH FESTIVAL

Out of a field of seven contestants, Yo-Hi placed third in the First Annual Kanto Plains Speech Festival, held this year at Johnson High School. Eloy Orozco, Jacque Leighty and Carl Johnson were among the winners in the category of original public oratory, placing 3rd, 5th, and 6th respectively. Ray Greene placed 4th in the extemporaneous category. Randi Riley received 5th place for her humorous reading, and Chris Pearce took 6th place with his entry in dramatic reading.

NILE C. KINNICK HIGH SCHOOL

Vol. III, No. 8

Commencement, 1964

HOME EC. STUDENTS STYLE CLOTHES

Yo-Hi's annual fashion show took place Wednesday, May 5, during homeroom. There was a wide assortment of styles, including skirts, shifts, dresses and shorts. In the showing also were an evening coat, a kimono and, showing a touch of originality, a pair of pajamas.

THE MAN OF THE AFTERNOON

by Diane Fulham

The mid-afternoon sun streamed through the large picture window of the hall and spread its precious light over a few of the formica tables. The rays also shone upon a brown square platform set up in the center of the hall. On the platform was a cube-shaped machine with a solid blue bottom and a glass top. Everything was ready and waiting in the huge hall, waiting for some five hundred people to arrive and for the presence of one particular man.

The people came in small numbers. Some were laden with bundles of groceries, others carried screaming, squirming children. One woman hurriedly came in wearing a pair of faded pedal pushers while another woman walked in slowly in order to make sure that everyone noticed her perky Children of the faculty members also modeled clothes made by the girls for the Kofu Orphanage.

The commentators were Janet DeSmet and Carolyn McCool. The Home Economics girls presented Miss Sattre with a bouquet of flowers in appreciation of her help during the past year.

new sun dress. Two men in a heated discussion over which ball team would win the World Series seated themselves noisily at one of the front tables. The grey-haired spinster at the next table glanced at them coldly and clicked her tongue. The man of the afternoon, however, had yet to make an appearance.

"It's almost three o'clock," sighed one woman as she wearily looked at her watch.

"When is he going to arrive?" added her husband.

They looked about the hall, their eyes searching for that

(Continued Page 2)

Queen Kay Cooper dances with escort John Gillgren at the Junior-Senior Prom

QUEEN KAY REIGNS OVER PROM

Kay Cooper was chosen queen of this year's prom, "Stardust Cascade," held at the Yokohama Officers' Club of Friday, May 8. Kay's two princesses were Kathie Merrill and Kathie Saito.

After passing through the receiving line, guests entered the beautifully decorated Officers' Club. The theme colors were blue and silver, and the theme was excellently brought forth in the decorations which consisted of hundreds of silver stars hung from blue fish net.

Guests had a choice of three dinners: sirloin steak, filet mignon, and lobster celebrity. During dinner "The Sweethearts" entertained with many popular songs.

At 10:45 Bob Farrell announced the queen and her court. Following the coronation Teddy Ashida and his orchestra continued to provide music until 12:30 A.M.

Yo-Hi's Valedictorian and Salutatorian: Leslie Chrisler and Jane Wiesemann

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Leslie Chrisler has attended Yo-Hi for two and half years, having transferred from Monte Vista High School in Spring Valley, California, where she spent her sophomore year. Leslie attended Mount Miguel High School during her freshman year. Much of her life has been passed traveling around the United States.

Leslie is co-editor of the annual this year and is a member of Quill and Scroll and the National Honor Society.

Valedictorian of the Senior class, Leslie would like to major in languages at Monmouth in Illinois and after graduation from college become an interpreter at the U.N.

Salutatorian Jane Wiesemann was born in East Chicago, Indiana, 18 years ago. Jane has lived in the United States until one and one-half years ago when she came to Japan.

She attended River Forest High School in Indiana before coming to Yo-Hi; however, she likes Yo-Hi best and feels that she has learned more here.

Jane plans to attend DePauw University and major in chemistry or physical education.

In her spare time Jane likes to participate in sports. She was secretary and treasurer of the Girls' Athletic Association in River Forest and voted most athletic girl in the Senior class, here at Yo-Hi.

(Continued from Page 1) familiar face. The hall was completely filled with a great crowd, some of whom were also looking at their watches and grumbling to themselves, "Where is he? What is he doing?" Others seemed in a friendly and cheerful mood, waving to friends and acquaintances. The man, however, wasn't anywhere to be seen.

Suddenly the man for whom the crowd had been waiting appeared. He was a short, thin man who was very well-dressed. He wore a grey tweed suit, white shirt, and red bow tie. His shoes were well shined and his hair neatly combed. The crowd turned their heads and stared at him. Some gave him a pleasant nod while others glanced at him nervously. He walked briskly up to the small platform. He could not help but smile to himself as all heads turned in his direction. For two solid hours these people would focus their attention primarily upon him and the blue machine. He would be, in a sense, their guide, their king for the next two hours.

Upon reaching the platform the man spoke, and the hall became extremely quiet. Now, however, listening to the speaker, the mood of the crowd had noticeably changed. Some still seemed relaxed and cheerful, but others appeared slightly uneasy and tense. Frowns and scornful looks appeared on a few faces as they listened to the man. Several minutes passed. One could hear an occasional sigh, a moan, or some hurried whisper. Other than this, all was silent. Suddenly a member of the crowd cried out so loud that the others jumped. The woman quickly rose from her seat and approached the man on the platform. Her face was beaming

(Continued from Page 3)

I, Karen Watkins, will my well used vocabulary book to Ann Spaulding.

I, Bill Crossman, do hereby will my surfboard and a pound of paraffin wax to Skip Volk in the hope that he will have many happy wipe-outs.

I, Lil' Beatle (Bill McKamey), do leave my drooping forelocks to anyone who wants 'em.

I, David Reid, leave to all typing students my wracked out typewriter and to next year's seniors, who shall take P.O.D., my two wonderful, and still unused, books.

I, Ben J. Caputo, will to my brother, Bernie, my desks in all of my classes so that he will know why I was such a grouch at 3:05.

I, Kay Cooper, being of sound mind and body, leave Yo-Hi to the lucky junior class.

I, D. Paul Batchellor, being of sound mind and body, do will my personality to Mr. Spaulding and my heart to Sue Preston.

I, Becky Travis, being of sound mind and body, bequeath with happiness while the rest of the people looked at her with some annoyance. Yet, the crowd seemed to relax and silently swear to themselves. The tension was broken at last, and the crowd started to talk loudly amongst themselves. The man of the afternoon was forgotten for the moment.

The woman had yelled, "Bingo!"

my old P.O.D. notes to my brother.

I, Raymond Wakefield, being of burnt-out mind and pain-wracked body, do hereby bequeath my entire library of old French books to any underclassman dense enough to take French and unsuspecting enough to take them.

I, Carolyn McCool, leave the annual to the next lucky staff, a promise to George, and the hope that he will never be parted from his Honda.

I, Pamela Stanley, being of sound mind and body, do will and bequeath my extra large lunches to Linda Simpson.

I, Maureen Fearing, being of sound of mind and body, do will and bequeath to Jim Lumley the ability to "swallow my pride."

I, Sandra P. Michaels, do will and bequeath my ability to stay quiet at the right time and my logic to Sidsel Arnesen.

I, Jack Ross, being of unsound mind do will my home distilling set, stolen from Chemistry class, to Greg Simms, Jack Miller and George Keys.

I, Steve Swigart, hereby do bequeath Mary Richter to the Smithsonian Institute, if they want her.

I, Gene Schoonderwoerd, being of sound mind and body, hereby bequeath my ability to sleep in P.O.D. and still pass tests to Lee Nicol.

Being of obtuse mind and loose body I, Raymond Greene, would hereby like to wish on or to the class of "65" just the same plain old normal type of Senior year we had.

Third annual Yo-Hi Style Show

CLASS WILL

I, Kathie Saito, being of very mean mind, do bequeath to any unfortunate mere high school kid, all my confidential cheat sheets.

I, Bob Schwenker, do hereby bequeath my ability to give Mr. Spaulding a hard time to Mike Bass.

I, Janet Devine, being of no mind and complete happiness, will my real beauty (?) mark to Linda Simpson because hers always seems to smear.

I, Chieko Rinaldi, will leave my messy P.O.D. notes to a future senior, Junko Manu.

I, Sandy Wright, leave my rank as the most infamous senior to any deserving junior.

I, Brad Collins, hereby bequeath all my appropriated football jerseys to Monty Garner.

I, Kathie Merrill, do hereby will my somewhat spastic cheerleading ability to Sandy Mixon.

I, June Adams, will my seat next to Mr. Pellegrino's desk to any lucky student in English IV.

I, Craig Nelson, will my height to Tommy Staley (who needs it), and my lousy grades to Carl Johnson (who doesn't need 'em).

I, Mike Dowd, will my bowlegs to anyone who is willing to walk into doors sideways.

I, Leslie Chrisler, being of disheveled mind and body, bequeath to Randi Riley, the "bump" I don't have on her log.

I, Marie Pace, being possessed of a stingy nature, do hereby declare that I will not leave any of my valuable possessions and traits to anyone.

I, Mary Richter, leave to Mr. Pellegrino my "Beginner's Picture Bible." May it aid him in his future English classes.

I, Candi Goshen, leave Mr. Pellegrino with a peaceful third period English class.

I, Gerry Hill, leave to Pam Alvis my friendship to Mr. Bruner and my sayonaras to everybody else, even the juniors.

I, Chris Rork, do hereby will to Randi Riley the No. 2 spot, and to the whole school the memory of the 1963-64 Senior Class.

I, Jim Handy, will my Algebra II grades to Pete Beer.

I, Pam Annas, being of sound (?) mind and body, do will my ability to leave everything to the last minute to Sandy Ogden, and my beautiful singing voice to Brenda Washington.

I, Evelyn Snyder, will to Donna Hintz all my old English paperbooks in hopes that she may broaden her vocabulary and her knowledge of the "underworld."

I, Danny La Fave, will my green motorcycle helmet to anyone that is willing to drive a Suzuki.

I, JoAnn Bennifel, will to Jeanette Eden my seat in Problems of Democracy and all my P.O.D. notes.

I, Saunie Salyer, will all my "different" qualities to Bob Schwenker and my good times to Robin King.

I, Mike Rentchler, do hereby leave to the junior class all my Thew Gym gear which they have donated so graciously to me.

I, Casey Chandler, leave to Randi Riley my position as tormentor of Miss Vines on ski trips. To Debbie Greene my surplus of jellybeans and chartruse tangerines!

I, Jane Weisemann, leave all my good grades to my brother, Paul.

I, Richard Sanson, being of sound and body leave to Jeff Hatchett my old thumbtacks on my P.O.D. desk.

I, Jane Woodgates, being of selfish mind and selfish body, will nothing to nobody.

I, JoAnne Obermeyer, being of sound body, if not mind, do hereby leave my used P.O.D. panel discussion notes on Juvenile Delinquency to anyone who will promise to burn them!

I, Tom Platzek, being of feeble mind and sound body will my gold-plated comb to my younger brother, Bill, with the understanding that he will carry on the noblest tradition.

As I, Rick Hill, am broke and need all I have for college I'm not leaving anything for anybody!

I, Linda Nelson, leave to Mr. Brisky all the baby bottles that are in Mr. Troy's room.

I, Richard Ledford, hereby will my brains to the classes of '65, '66, '67—they need some help.

I, Steve Radford, leave my excellent algebra ability to next year's algebra class, and my great hiking ability to Don Vaughan.

I, Mike Murphy, being of sound mind and body, do bequeath to the class of '65 my crypt in P.O.D. which is on the III level of the Inferno.

I, Jim Morrison, leave my entire set of football gear, unwashed, and my big "59" jersey to whoever can fill it!

I, Andy Silverthorn, will my procrastination to anyone who doesn't know what it means and is too lazy to look it up.

To the next senior class I, Randy Allen, bequeath my ability to do all assignments the last minute—you need it.

I, Gary Scroggins, being of sound mind and knees, will Dan Randall my ability to get out of caesthetics and I also leave my all-league jersey to Jack Miller so he may play halfback as I didn't.

I, Pat Collins, will to Jack Miller my lucky number 13, size 38, practice jersey on the condition that he repairs the rips and cleans off the dried blood from my broken arm.

I, Richard Hestekind, do sincerely wish the "best of luck" to future seniors at Yo-Hi.

I, Janet DeSmet, do bequeath my best hopes to Jack Miller, Greg Simms, and the rest of the 'boys', that they are successful in finding a replacement for the "leader" of which I deprived them.

I, Mike Masica, being of (somewhat) sound mind and body leave my most copious P.O.D. notes to all juniors, in general, and Robin King, in particular.

I, Allan Ostby, will my Honda Cub's rusty ruins to Mike Warfield for his Sports Cub's rusty spokes.

I, John Gillgren, will all my good looks and brains to the next guy who wears football jersey #44!

I, Darleen Haynes, will my P.O.D. notes to Bette Miller who will need them because she never pays attention in any class.

I, Roger Hernandez, leave my chair in P.O.D. to my loyal friend Lee Nicol and may he profit from it as much as I did.

I, Claudia Swan, hereby will my much worn, many holed, stretched out, yellowed cheerleading socks to Marilyn Weise.

I, Diane Fulham, leave my record of never missing a day of high school to any future freshmen who thinks that he can do it.

I, Frances Flavin, leave my skiing ability to Larry Sato and my cheerleading position to any girl willing to go through what I went through!

I, Bill Miller, being of a 'fairly' sound mind, will my high rate of efficiency, as well as good prospects to anyone who feels that he has achieved as high a rate of ability as a studious student of Yo-Hi as I have.

I, Mike Weise, being of sound mind (?) and body, will my ability to graduate to Bob Schwenker and my football jersey to next year's all league and—Mike Kelley.

I, Mike Calvert, being of sound mind and perfect body (?) do leave the school of Yo-Hi the memory of me.

I, Bob Hammer, hereby decree that all my P.O.D. notes shall go to Phyllis Mickey in hopes that she might burn them.

I, Kathy Kruger, leave my place on the library staff to Linda Wilcox.

I, Lew DePriest, leave my points with Mr. Robertson to Paul Philpott.

I, Terry Arndt, do hereby leave my position as Editor of the Activities and Organizations staff of the annual to Leo Tilley with the hope that he has learned from my mistakes.

I, Skip Conover, being of regretful mind and body, leave my position as Editor of Trident to the next happy volunteer.

I, Dana Beckman, will to George Keys the ability to chew gum in Mr. Bruner's class without getting caught.

I, Donna Demoret, being of sound mind and body, I think, will my inability to type tabulation problems to any poor, sorry soul who has the same problem.

(Continued Page 2)

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Leslie Chrisler, interpreter at the U. N., today accepted an offer from Pakistan President Alababa Mohammed to be his personal translator. She is the master of 24 languages.

Biologist Ben Caputo and assistant Terry Arndt will leave next July 10 for a trip to South Africa to study the Caprimulgiformes.

Chief of Naval Operations Bob Hammer with aides Allan Ostby and David Reid left Washington today for a tour of Far East installations in Taiwan, Japan and Korea.

Karen Watkins, spokesman for the Bell Telephone Company, disclosed that Visual telephones will be ready for installation in government offices of Washington and New York by the end of this month.

Professor of chemistry at the University of Carolina, Kathryn Cooper, suffered minor eye injuries today when a student splashed an acid of his own making in Miss Cooper's face. Miss Cooper is not pressing charges.

The lone survivors of the jet collision at Kennedy International Airport today were the stewardess Claudia Swan and a small child who took shelter under his chair. All other 95 passengers of the two jets were killed. It was verified that Governor John Masica was aboard the ill-fated jet.

U. S. Ambassador to Brazil, Steve Swigart, announced at his news conference today that he will leave Brazil this month to campaign for Vice President.

U. S. diplomats, June Adams and Pam Annas, plan to start their South American good will tours in July. Their main objective is to strengthen relations.

Editor of Mad Magazine, Mary Richter, announced that she will resign from her post and become the President's chief speech writer.

It was disclosed that prima ballerina Darleen Haynes declined a contract with the Philadelphia Ballet Company because she is expecting her first child in March.

Jon Rentschler today an-

FLASH

U.S. rocket engineer Mike Weise has suddenly disappeared from his apartment in south Hollywood. It is believed that he had designs of the latest rocket effort with him. His assistant Daniel LaFave said that a search of Weise's apartment did not disclose any evidence as to the location of the rocket designs.

announced that he will open a new chain of department stores in Alaska.

I.B.M. accountants, Chieko Rinaldi and Sandra Michaelis, were awarded the I.B.M. Accountants Prize for their service to the corporation.

Beauty experts, Donna Demoret and Kathy Merrill, agree that this year's defiant eyes will soften down with next year's color schemes.

Marie Pace was given the Designers Award of the year for her handsome creation for the Ironhead Prison inmates. The inmates were delighted with their new clothes as was Miss Pace with her award. Said inmate Jack Ross, "We've never worn anything like these clothes before."

Trombonists, Rick Hill and John Gillgren, gave a command performance for the Queen of England last week. Among the songs played was "Moon Road."

Linguists, JoAnn Obermeyer and Frances Flavin, today announced their intention of starting a school for linguists.

Celebrated writer, Casey Chandler, today announced the printing of her new book, Life in an Aquarium. Among her past works are the controversial Washington versus Paris and the Tone Flower.

Kathy Saito, well known interior designer, was commissioned today to decorate the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

FLASH

The only survivors of the horrible sinking of the aircraft carrier Locust near the Aleutian Islands three days ago are ACI Dana Beckman, Lt. Michael Dowd, and Cdr. Robert McKamey. The search was given up today because of gale force winds in the area.

SPORTS NEWS

The Greenbay Packers' half-back, Gary Scroggins, was reported in satisfactory condition after his leg injury Tuesday.

Jane Woodgates, president of the California Surf Club, ran aground on a coral reef while surfing backwards.

The U.S. Tennis Team swept the Australian team in the Davis Cup Finals. Members of the team are Roger Hernandez, Bill Crossman, Richard Hestekind, Ray Wakefield, Kathy Kruger and Andy Silverthorn.

Professional bowler, Bill Miller, today bowled the highest series in PBA history. Miller rolled two 300 games and a 253 for an out-standing 853 series. Miller received $25,000 for the 95 minutes of work.

Olympic swimmer, Gene Schoonderwoerd, announced today that he will become a professional swimmer after the summer olympics.

Basketball player, Richard Sansom, was named basketball player of the year by the Association of University Coaches.

This year's Ski Queen is Chris Rork. Exuberant Chris received the award at the Skier's Club in France, where she has been staying this winter.

Ice hockey players, Gerald Hill and Thomas Platzek, were suspended for two weeks after breaking training rules for the third time. In addition Coach Bob Schwenker levied a fine of hundred dollars.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Professor Michael Calvert of Mississippi University was honored by the University President as the most efficient member of the faculty.

Diane Fulham was announced by N.A.S.A. as their most valuable physicist. The award was attributed to her work on the design of nuclear powered rockets.

Physicist Randy Allen and his assistant Pam Stanley have discovered a cure for ingrown toenails. The base of this remarkable discovery will be made known later.

Richard Ledford, Craig

SOCIETY NOTES

The engagement of Senator Patrick Collins of California, to socialite Janet DeSmet was announced last night at a gathering of friends and relatives.

Indiana debutant Joann Benfield married world famous Dr. James Handy in a plush ceremony at the Columbia City Chapel.

Society king Paul Batchellor and millioneress Saunie Salyer announced their engagement at the annual Winter Ball in New York.

It's wedding bells for prominent New York lawyer Skip Conover and happy Candi Goshen in late June. The news was broken at a quiet reception for family and friends.

Carolyn McCool and Jim Morrison were quietly married on Saturday at the nearby Smithfield Church. Friends and relatives were the only guests.

Disc jockey Ray Greene and actress Maureen Fearing announced their engagement at a dinner for friends and press held last Saturday.

Socialite Sandra Wright and naval officer Steven Radford broke their happy news to friends, relatives and newsmen yesterday at the Country Club Ball.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Linda Nelson and her proud husband announced the birth of their seventh boy, Herman.

Becky Travis and happy husband Don celebrated the birth of their second set of triplets, 2 girls and 1 boy.

Chemist Jane Weisemann announced the birth of her first daughter Friday.

Lew DePriest, father of the second set of quintuplets, says that he and his wife are proud of their five girls and both agree that they look like Lew!

Nelson, and Brad Collins announced their cure for bad dreams and nightmares: don't sleep.

Everyone is invited to attend a demonstration of the latest I.B.M. display at Larson Department Store. Miss Janet Devine and Evelyn Snyder will explain uses of the machines.

Professor Mike Murphy announced his retirement today at this year's first meeting of the Association of College and University Professors.